(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

THOMPSONVILLE (Mich.,) July 15.— Reports from the various districts in which the forest fires have been raging the past week indicate that while the flames are spreading they are not so serious as they were. If rain comes to-day, of which there is every prospect, the danger will have passed. A care-ful estimate of the losses to settlers and lumbermen aggregates about $200,-000.

ond lumbermen aggregates about $200,000.

The people of Wallin, who are completely burned out, are in a sad condition. They have lost homes, clothing and everything except their lives and are dependent upon charity for food and clothes. They are being provided for, but as the fire sufferers number over one hundred this village it sorely taxed. Most of them will go back to Wallin with the lumber company which intends to rebuild its plant. As far as known not a life has been lost, though scores are suffering from serious burns incurred in fighting the fames. Livestock has suffered much and extensive damage has been done to standing timber, but most of this will be saved by immediate cutting.

granted by a district judge, is all that stands between Mrs. Kate Chase and a chattel mortgage foreclosure of all her household goods. Edgwood is already gone, and the trust company which foreclosed the mortgage has notified Mrs. Chase to surrender possession.

Salmon P. Chase, Governor, Senator, Secretary of the Treasury and Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, died twenty-two years ago. In every public position which he occupied he was a leader. To him was due the formation of the national bank account. As a Senator from Ohlo he originated some of the most important legislation of his day.

Though millions of dollars passed through his hands he died comparatively poor, leaving Edgwood, with its priceless associations, to his daughter, Mrs. Kate Chase. Misfortunes have come to her. Her eldest daughter, Ethel Sprague, is on the stage with Richard Mansfield's "Portia;" the second daughter has taken a position as governess; Nettle, the youngest, is an invalid, requiring constant attention.

Mrs. Chase has been assured that, in case she is not able to raise sufficient funds to redeem the estate, it will be restored to her. She is now in New York making an effort in this direction. She writes to intimate friends in Washington that she is almost exhausted, mentally and physically, and despairs of success.

Over twenty years ago Dr. Howers lived at No. 843 North Clark street. One night in October, 1873, the doctor and family were at the theater, when his home on North Clark street was burned. No one was in the house when the fire started, and there was always some question about the cause of the blaze. The spring following, after having moved into a house on North avenue, Mrs. Bowers and her baby died. After the funeral was held, rumors began to float about regarding the cause of the deaths, and the doctor left the city.

Outside the clubhouse the crowd greeted the news of the election of John Burns, the labor leader, with tremendous cheers. The bulletin announcing Henry M. Stanley's election was received with hisses and cries of "Professional." The pictures of Gladstone and Sir William Harcourt, which were thrown upon the seron from time to time, were wildly cheered.

The windows adjoining the Hotel Metropole were filled with fashionably-dressed men and women enjoying the scene. Before long the Prince of Wales dropped into the Carlton Club and scanned the bulletins. These were posted in the lobby, where a throng of members were gathered in a jubilant and exultant mood. The results were received there with enthusiasm. The members shouted "Never mind the Liberal returns; England is now a Conservative nation."

At the Constitutional Club so great was the crowd that gathered outside that the doors were closed, but the results posted in the lobby were plainly seen by the outsiders. One member remarked: "I am glad to see that Burns and all such vermin only creep in by small majorities."

Immense throngs surged through Fleet street this evening. The results of the elections have been placarded as fast as received at the newspaper offices. All vehicular traffic and even the running of bloycles was suspended. Crowds of men and women waved their hats and umbrellas at the announcement that Burns was elected. Some

The four Conservative candidates for the four divisions of Antrim, in Ireland, were returned.

The following have also been returned unopposed: West Heath division, Donald Sullivan, anti-Parnellite; Hampshire, New Forest division, Hon. J. W. Scott Montague, Unionist; West Andover division, W. The Democratic Central Committee Has Decided to Issue a Call-Little Interest in Free-coinage is Manifested in Georgia.

EGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) ST. LOUIS (Mo.,) July 15.-By a vote of 12 to 2 the Democratic State Central Committee, in session today at the Southern Hotel, decided to call a State silver convention. The convention will be held at Pertle Springs on August 6. Chairman Maffitt cast his own vote and two proxies which he held for a convention. On June 10 the committee met and voted, 10 to 5, against holding a convention to consider the finan-cial question, and this change has been brought about by the friends of silver who have been agitating the question ever since. On the assembling of the committee Chairman Maffitt, in explanation of his course, said:

"Early in May the chairman read articles in newspapers stating that the Democrats of the State wanted the committee convened to call a convention to take action on the monetary question. As it has been usual to call a meeting about the first of June, I waited twenty about the first of Julie, I wanted when days to see what course matters would take. I was under fire all the time. "Subsequently by letter, personal solicitation and through the press, I was requested to reconvene the committee. On June 22 I received a communication from Chairman Farris of La Clede county, stating that he had a number of communications which he would like to lay before the State Committee. I told Farris I would reconvene the committee at the request of a majority of the members. I then told Farris that on Saturday I would issue a circular to the chairman of the County Committee to facilitate the work of securing their desires on this point. Then the work of filling out the circulars began and in a short time the chairman of the State Committee received replies from the chairmen of a majority of the county committees, asking that the committee be reconvened. SAN FRANCISCO, July 15 .- (Specia Dispatch.) The doubt that existed as to whether C. P. Huntington was concerned with Peralta-Reavis in his attempt to dispossess 40:000 Arizona settlers from their homes and acquire the title to 12,000,000 acres of land exists no longer. The Southern Pacific potentate is definitely connected with the "Barony of Arizona" fraud in a document

Furthermore, it was made a part of the contract that no money should be paid unless Reavis won his action-in-law to obtain possession of the do-main in Arizona. In the minds of all who are aware of the existence of the contract there is not the slightest doubt that Huntington would have profited by the success of Reavis.

That Huntington had a contract with Reavis by the terms of which he would have become interested in Arizona land if the claim of Reavis had not been declared fraudulent is apparently borne out by the fact that, as shown by the History Company's contract, Reavis ex-pected to obtain such great wealth from Huntington that he could afford to invest $150,000 for the luxury of seeing his name and deeds spread over the 150 pages of the "Chronicles of the

NEW YORK, July 15.—A special to the World from Washington says that Spain's payment of the Mora claim, as indicated by cable, will at last defeat the intrigues of American and foreign claim sharps. For years a coterie of diplomats at Washington and Madrid have sought to make the sentiment of this historic award conditional on the acknowledgment of counter-claims by the United States. The story of all this plotting to mulct the government of millions brings to light a serious diplomatic scandal, and shows how the Mora claim has secretly been made to figure as an important incident in a scheme for securing the transfer of Cuba to the United States.

Nathaniel Paige, the well-known international lawyer, who for years has represented the Mora family, furnishes represented the Mora family, furnishes documents and letters, which seem to throw a flood of light on the obstructions interposed to prevent the payment of the Mora award. Paige specifically charges ex-Secretary of State and ex-Minister to Spain John W. Foster with opposing this award. Foster has denied the charge, and Paige now comes forward with papers, which, he claims, substantiate the charge. Paige, however, charges that several Spanish ministers to this country, as well as attaches of the French Legation, obstructed the Mora interests and tried to induce him to press claims they held and hold up the Mora claims. Mora is living on West Sixty-third street, New York city, with his daughter.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

A Steamship Waiter Kills the Girl He Cannot Marry.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) SAN FRANCISCO, July 15 .- Thomas Woods, a young steamship waiter, this evening shot Mabel Kent to death beause her people would not allow them o marry, and then killed himself.

The murder and suicide occurred or the corner of Ridley street and Elgir place. The young man ambushed the rirl on her way home from work. At 6:30 o'clock, when she was within half a block of her father's house, her lover appeared and carried out the programme he had arranged earlier in the day. Nobody saw the act, but a crowd day. Nobody saw the act, but a crowd quickly gathered and found the girl and her slayer stretched out dead. She lay on her back in the dust at the intersection of the two streets. Woods had staggered to the sidewalk before he fell. In one hand he clutched the weapon, and the other a still-lighted clusterie.

The young couple had been lovers for the past year. At one time they were engaged, but the girl's parents caused the match to be broken off. This fact to preyed on the mind of the steamship man that he considered life not worth living. He had threatened the girl, and her relatives were on guard. handsome young woman of 20 years and was a great help to the family. No one but the girl seemed to have any use for Woods, and she had been forbidden to see him. He persisted in his attentions, however, and on finding that he could not have her for a bride, informed the family that he would kill the girl. This threat was made about two weeks ago, at which time Kent informed the police. He was told to swear out a warrant for Woods, but neglected to do so. Woods and his victim first met about a year ago. At that time he was employed on the steamer Walla. Walla. The Kent family took passage on the steamer at Victoria for this city, and during the trip Woods made himself very agreeable to Mabel.

The Saillor was about 30 years of age, quite prepossessing and a devoted lover. Mabel soon promised to marry him, but in some way Woods incurred the displeasure of the parents and was requested to cease his attentions. From a letter found in his pocket, written May 26 by the dead girl's brother, it appears that the offense was unpardonable and the mariner was cautioned to remain away or take the consequences. Any further attention would be made at his own peril. There was also a letter from the girl to Woods, dated November 15, 1894, in which she said that if he went back on her she would do something desperate. The man had carefully planned the murder and suicide. He pawned his watch to raise money with which to purchase the pistol.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT. DENVER (Colo.,) July 15.—A special to the News from El Paso, Tex. says that the Rio Grande is pouring a greater flood of water into this valley greater flood of water into this valley than for many years before. It has steadily risen for several days, and last night it jumbed up nearly a foot, covering a large part of the lower town. This part of the city was supposed to be protected by a well-built levee, but the river broke in below the termination of the levee and backed up nearly to the Santa Fe tracks. The houses in this section of the town are chiefly adobe, and as the water surrounds them they melt away. If the river rises much higher hundreds of the houses will disappear into the flood. Already more than a score of them have succumbed to the water, and many families have taken refuge in the houses of their friends on the higher ground. William Lermann and his family are peculiarly afflicted. A few days ago one of his two children died of scarlet fever and yesterday the other was almost in a dying condition. Last night while watching their suffering child, the parents became aware that water was lashing the floor of their house, so soon after midnight they took up the child and waded through the flood to a higher place, where they were made comfortable. The father hurried back to remove their household goods, only to find the walls already crumbling away.

The Texas & Pacific railroad shops and roundhouse, the Terminal Smelt-ing Company's works and Bassett & Lyster's brickyards are all surrous by water, also three dairies. Thriving Fruit.

Thriving Fruit.

(Pacific Rural Press:) Almost any one can get a forcible lesson in the result of thinning fruit this year. For great part Nature did the thinning with her little frost hatchet, and did it not wisely but too well. The lesson is, however, very clear. The fruit is growing to enormous size. We see Royal apricots nearly up to the ordinary Moorpark size and Moorparks as large as peaches. Other naturally scant fruits are gaining size proportionately. Then to see how the trees are growing this year. Freed from overbearing, the vigor of the tree is extending its wood system wonderfully. Of course it is all overdone this year, but the fruit grower can easily see how less fruit means more tree vigor, and take a hint as to how he can secure for himself a good yield of large fruit and for his trees a wonderful revival of strength which will lay the foundation for longevity. If this lesson were learned by every one this year it would be worth more than all the fruit which passed in the night.

Court-martial of National Guard Of Acers-Deacon Oldham Convicted. Weather and Crops-Chinese

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) TUCSON (Ariz.,) July 15.—James A. Crowley, one of the Americans who was held up at the time of the recent robbery of the Nacasaria stage in Sonora, Mex.; arrived here last evening and gives the following particulars of the robbery and the subsequent arrest and killing of the robbers by the Mexican Crowley is foreman of the Lapham tle Company of New York, upon ose ranch the mining camp of Nacasis built. His family reside here aria is built. His family reside here and he was returning from a visit to them at the time of the hold-up. At Bisbee he met Edward Woodruff, paymaster of the Nacasaria Mining Company, who had been to El Paso for money to pay the employees at the mine. At La Morita, the Mexican custom-house, fifteen miles south of Bisbee, Woodruff induced Crowley, who was on horseback, to ride in the buckboard with him and a Mexican driver named Moreno, which he (Crowley) did. named Moreno, which he (Crowley) did, his saddled horse being led behind They stopped for the night at the ranch They stopped for the night at the ranch of Robert Tribolett, an American living with his family about forty miles south of the custom-house, where they were made comfortable. That night Tribolett was away and was supposed to be irrigating in his fields. It had been the intention of the party to breakfast at Cochuta, a ranch lower down and where a change of animals was to be had, but Tribolett pressed them so hard that they had breakfast with him and then drove on.

They reached Cochuta about 9 o'clock horseman had left the road, Iney were fired upon by three men who were close enough to hit them with their guns. As enough to hit them with their guns. As the shots were apparently purposely aimed high; no one was hurt, but both Woodruff and Crowley jumped to the ground, the former to run back up the road and the latter to grapple with the man who stood nearest to him. This man, who wore a white mask, jumped back and covered Crowley with his gun and made him hold up his hands.

Meantime the frightened team had whirled around and was running toward Cochuta, while the other two whirled around and was running toward Cochuta, while the other two robbers, also wearing white masks, in pursuit and shooting at the driver, who was whipping his team as they ran. At this time Crowley's captor forced him back into the brush where he could hear the shooting, but could not see all that was going on. However, he saw the man riding the buckskin horse return to the road and join in the pursuit. His captor then robbed him of his money, watch and revolver. In the course of about ten or fifteen minutes the other two foot robbers returned, carrying with them the valies in which Woodruff had his money. This they cut open and counted its contents, which consisted of $6000 in Mexican paper money and $200 in American gold.

The robber in command ordered Crowley killed, but this his captor refused to do. After a little more parleying the money was placed in the mall sack of the company, out of which the letters had been dumped. The same party who had ordered Crowley shot then threatened to kill him him if he said anything about the affair, and told him that he must remain there till night, when they would return and bring him something to eat. They then disappeared in the brush, and shortly afterwards he heard their horses, which had been picketed near by, galloping away. As soon as they were fairly gone he

They then disappeared in the brush, and shortly afterwards he heard their horses, which had been picketed near by, galloping away. As soon as they were fairly gone he started back to Cochuta, but when he reached the road there was the buckboard with his saddle horse still tied behind. Woodruff was nowhere in sight, but one of the buckboard mules had been killed and Mozerne the divisor. sight, but one of the buckboard mules had been killed, and Moreno, the driver, lay dead by the roadside. He had been shot three times from behind, once near the center of the back, the bullet passing out of his right breast, once through the left side of his neck and once squarely through the head, the bullet coming out in the center of his forehead. It was learned afterward that he was overtaken and killed by the man who rode the buckskin horse, and who also had to kill one of the mules in order to stop the team.

his forehead. It was learned afterward that he was overtaken and killed by the man who rode the buckskin horse, and who also had to kill one of the mules in order to stop the team.

With as little delay as possible Crowley mounted his own horse and was about to proceed when he was suddenly stopped by four men, who came out of the brush, but fortunately these proved to be vaqueros from the Cochuta ranch, which Woodruff had reached and alarmed. Word of the robbery was then sent to the "Presidente" or Mayor at Fronteras, a town about ten miles north and in the direction of Tribolett's, in whose district the murder and robbery had been committed. The Presidente, however, instead of appearing in person, sent a letter to the foreman of the Cochuta ranch, who refused to take action in the matter. It was then decided that Woodruff should return to Bisbee and Crowley should take the dead body of Moreno and continue on to Nacasaria, which he did, and, by making an all-night drive, reached there the morning following.

Moreno's body was turned over to his family and was burled that afternoon, its arrival having created great excitement in the camp. Crowley was summoned before the presidente of the town and required to make a written statement of the occurrence, and also to explain why he had brought the dead body of Moreno out of the Fronteras district and into the Moctezuma without authority from the officials of the district, such a thing being against the law. He was then placed under surveillance, his statement being sent to the authorities at Oposura, fifty-five miles distant, and detectives were put to work on the case, being summoned from all over the country.

In twelve days, by the direction of the Governor of Sonora, the presidente of Fronteras was placed under arrest. This was followed shortly afterward by the arrest of Tribolett, his foreman, and two others of his employees. The next morning they were taken-by Maj. Mendes, commander of the "cordado," or district police, about six miles in the presidente, who h four men, who stood but a few feet away from their victims.

These facts were learned by Crowley from Maj. Mendez, who further said in relation to Tribolett that the latter denied having been present at the robbery, which was probably so, but that the robbery had been concocted at his house, and that not only Tribolett, but the mayor and a number of prominent citizens of Fronteras were implicated, and those not caught would be gathered in later. Crowley was also told that his watch and pistol—were found in Tribolett's house, as was also $1500 of the stolen money.

Tribolett's foreman, the man who robbed Crowley, at the time he held him prisoner in the bush, escaped, but was subsequently caught near Oposura and executed in the presence of the whole town, who turned out to see him shot. He offered to make a full confession if given his life, but this was denied him he refused to go into details, but admitted his complicity in the outrage. He died courageously. There were three other active participants in the robbery, who were in ambush lower down the road, but thus far they have escaped.

Crowley states that for a time he was in a precarious position. He had without authority and contrary to law, taken a dead body from one district to another, and the fact that there were two Americans on the buckboard, and neither of them were killed, was looked on suspiciously by both the people and the authorities, and until the matter was thoroughly cleared up he was in constant danger of being killed. Finally the authorities offered him a guard of soldiers, but these he refused. He however concluded that it was best to get out of the country, and did so.

In coming out his party was in constant danger of ambuscade. In Calabasa Canyon three armed men were reported in ambush, but this canyon was avoided by making a detour over the hills. The authorities are said to have the names of about forty men who were more or less implicated in the robbery, and as these are scattered all over the country to avoid arrest, the danger to t in the fruit crop will be made up in its better quality and better prices. The wheat crop being poor in quality will tend to lessen its money value, and thereby reduce its intrinsic worth considerably over that which will be lost by the shortness in the quantity of the crop. Hops will not be an average crop, and beans are not doing well, except in bottom or stiff lands. Those on sendy lands will be almost a total failure for the want of moisture enough to bring them to proper maturity.

SACRAMENTO, July 15.—Gov. Budd has addressed a letter to the Executive Committee of the State Board of Horticulture, in which he accuses the board of wasting money to maintain luxurious quarters in this city when it might as well be situated in the State Capitol. The Governor denies that his veto of the Appropriation bill has impaired the usefulness of the board. Chinese and whites to land Chinese fraudulently. The Mongols are to be shipped here from Hong Kong as natives of California. For every one that is safely landed the ring is to receive $200. There are now said to be 200 young Chinese on the way here to be landed as native sons.

Collector Wise has learned of the existence of the ring, and he is already taking means to prevent its operation. Every Chinese that tries to land in future will be closely examined and, unless he proves beyond a doubt that he has a right to land, he will be sent back to China.

FRANK ROMER IS ON THE REDHANDED LIST.

He Killed M. B. Ullery, Then Gave

Himself Up—A Murder Sensation at Downey—The Men Had Quarrelled Over Money.

The little city of Downey was thrown into a fever of excitement yesterday morning by a murder committed within its borders; in fact, within the very heart of the business center. The victim of the tragedy was B. M. Ullery, and his slayer, Frank Romer, is now an inmate of the County Jail.

Romer used a pistol to dispatch his man, and fired three shots in quick succession, all three of which lodged in Ulalmost instantly.

The shooting took place in front of Gray & Co.'s hardware store, a little after 8 o'clock. There was only one witness to the tragedy, so far as known, Edwin Martin, a clerk employed in the store. Martin heard a slight alterca-close attention. When the shooting commenced he moved to get out of range. He, however, waw that Komer did all the shooting, and the latter does not deny it.

As soon as Ullery fell, Romer put his revolver, which still contained three unexploded shells, in his pocket, and walked slowly up the street until he met Constable Brookshine, who placed him under arrest. The constable brought the prisoner to the County Jali in the afternoon, and Deputy District Attorney Willis drew up a complaint charging him with murder. Romer, when asked if he had any statement to make, said not at the present time. He showed some concern, but was not visibly excited. When pressed for a reason for the shooting, he simply contented himself by saying that he felt justified in doing the act.

"You evidently shot to kill," said the reporter.

"It looks that way." replied Romer.

"It looks that way," replied Romer.
"It looks that way," replied Romer. "Everything looks against me now," he continued, "but I'll make an explanation by and by."

Romer is a native of Kentucky, 22

Romer is a native of Kentucky, 22 syears of age, single, and has been in California about three years, residing at Downey most of the time, his occupation being that of a common laborer. He said to the reporter:

"This is the first time I have ever been in jall, or in any serious trouble. I am not a drinking man or a hardened criminal by any means. I had trouble with Ullery and shot him. That is about all I have to say at present."

about all I have to say at present."

The trouble is understood to have arisen over money matters, one of the men owing the other a few dollars which he refused to pay. It is alleged they met and quarreled over the affair Sunday evening, and Ullery is said to have made the threat that he would be prepared for Romer when next time prepared for Romer when next time dvely Rabbit-killing-match Hueneme.

HUENEME, July 15.—Special Cor-respondence. A coursing match, which, from the quantity of dogs and social and business prominence of their owners, attracted more than ordinary interest in Ventura county, was de-cided yesterday on the Patterson ranch three miles north of Huenema. The match, a stake race, best two out of three, was between L. J. Rose's dog, Dan, aged 8 years, with an unbeaten record of sixteen wing courses, and T. J. O'Donovan's Black Phoenix, dged 4years. Mr. Donovan is proprietor of one of the largest drygoods houses in the county, while L. J. Rose is owner of the extensive ranch known as Roseland.

the extensive ranch known as Roseland.

The choice of coursing ground was left to Dr. J. M. Stire of Ventura, stakeholder, who selected the patterson pasture which proved a model ground, in every respect.

When time was cafled, at 3:45 p.m., by Timekeepers A. G. Orena, J. C. Wray and C. B. Elwell, there was fully two hundred spectators including many ladies, in attendance, representing Ventura, El Rio, Huenema, Springville, Camulas, Santa Barbara and Los Angeles. Among the well-known coursing experts were John Scarlet, W. A. Hobson, Tom Galvin, Bud Fowler, W. B. McBrinley, Robert Bonesteel of Son Francisco, Dennis Hickey, Lewis Carnes, James Donlon, Frank Rusie and Mason Bradfield of Fillmore. Charles Whitney was selected as judge and Charley Dondon of Huenema acted as slipper. The first jack was jumped up at 3:35 p.m., and the dogs slipped beautifully to an even start. In the first twenty yards Black Phoenix gained slightly and turned the jack for two points, following with a scratch and a kill winning the first heat handly amid intense excitement.

The second rabbit was started at 4:15

The last heat was disappointing, as the rabbit started was young and unable to "foot it" with the dogs for more than seventy yards, when he was turned and killed by the Rose dog, who scored all the points made in the heat, winning the race and stake.

A return match is in contemplation, as Mr. O'Donovan and his friends are convinced that in Black Phoenix he has a "cracker-jack," which, with training and experience, cannot be beaten by anything under championship form.

The decisions of Judge Whitney and the work of Slipper Doulon gave universal satisfaction, a pleasing feature of the match being the perfect good feeling which prevailed between those interested, in spite of the prevailing excitement consequent upon the close and rapid work of the dogs.

Architect Logan Skips-Found Dead Prunes and Almonds.

RIVERSIDE, July 15 .- (Regular Correspondence.) Architect Logan, over whose escapades there has been more or less trouble, engendering more or less ill-feeling between a number of respectable citizens, has skipped out for other ing, going south, presumably for San Diego. One of his last acts was to sell some furniture he recently purchased of George B. Gladden, and for which he had not settled. Mr. Gladden, hearing of the matter, swooped down on Lo gan Saturday evening and informed him that the money for the furniture must be paid at once or he would stop him from leaving the city. School.

The prune and almond crop of the San Jacinto Valley is said to be larger this year than for many years back, or before, for that matter. Not only are all the older trees leaded down so that the limbs are bending to that extent that it is almost impossible to pass under them, but there are many hundreds of young trees which have come into bearing for the first time this year. The same happy conditions exist in other portions of the county relative to prunes and almonds.

PEOPLE WHO BUY PHOTOS.

The development of photography in the last few years has had the effect of changing entirely the character of the shops in which photographs are sold, and these have become as interesting in many respects as the art stores and studios, says the New York Sun. Every dealer in photographs who is up to the times considers it necessary to have a room set apart for his regular customers. The casual customer, who merely wishes to buy a photograph or two, does not see this at all; but the collectors, students, artists, architects and others who seek photographs to complete collections, or for assistance in work they have in hand, find this special room a great convenience. It is fitted as a combination studio and library; is as free from disturbance as possible, and does not look at all like a shop.

Unless their presence is requested, even salesmen do not intrude, and the customers have an opportunity of looking over the special collections at their leisure. Some of these collections are very large and very costly. The modern dealer must, if he wishes to secure the custom of the various artistic crafts and scientific men—and their trade is by far the most profitable—have thousands of photographs of a kind that do not appeal to the average_customer. He has agents in every country, with orders to supply him with copies of everything that is new in the way of photographs. As soon as an explorer gets out of the wilderness he is beset by these agents, who effer large sums for copies of his photographs. In a similar way the naturalist and the botanist who have discovered something new, and the inventor and scientific investigator, who have discovered something new, and the inventor and scientific investigator, who have discovered something new, and the inventor and scientific investigator, who have discovered something new, and the inventor and scientific investigator, who have discovered something new, and the inventor and scientific investigator, who have discovered something new, and the inventor and scientific investiga

These figures show that the total shippents of silver from London to the above countries during the first half of this year were $16,389,043, as against a total for the corresponding half year of 1894 of $24,497,650, being a decrease of $8,112,607.

On the other hand, it is stated that the imports of silver into London continue to be largely in excess of the exports. If that sort of thing continues much longer it will be difficult to maintain the price of silver, even at its present low quotations. In New York the price at present ranges from 66 to 67 cents an ounce. In London it is lower, quotations on dates corresponding to those on which the New York prices are given being 30\(\frac{1}{2}\)d, equal to, say at a slight fraction less than 2 cents to the English penny, 61 cents an ounce.

FUTURE SUGAR FACTORIES. The Times, in its report last week of the opening day of the Chino beet-sugar factory, closed with a paragraph that the Chino factory after this year would have no further use for Anahelm beets or any beets grown outside of the Chino district. The statement was made on the authority of one of the prominent officials of the Chino Ranch Company. As a possible consequence of this The Times gave a broad hint to the Anahelm sugar-beet growers that they had better look after themselves. The California Fruit Grower of San Francisco, in its last issue, has something to say on the same subject, which is: "Report comes from the south part of the State that the Oxnards will erect another beet sugar factory at or near Chino before another season; also that the Spreckels Company will establish a factory somewhere in the beet districts of Los Angeles or Orange county."

There is a part of this statement that has some importance to Los Angeles, equally so to the future sugar factory. The statement reads "that the Spreckels Company will establish a factory somewhere in the beet districts of Los Angeles or Orange county." This is vague, but the grain of import in it is the possibility of a factory being established in Los Angeles, and there are many reasons why it should.

Of the total quantity of beets used at the Chino sugar factory this season over one-third will come from Orange county. Taking Santa Ana as the point factory, or the shipper, has to pay freight on that distance of rail from there to Chino is 77 miles. The Chino factory, or the shipper, has to pay freight on that distance. Los Angeles is gnly thirty-two miles distant from Santa Ana. But that is the least important part of the argument. Water and fuel enter largely into the manufacture of sugar. In both of these Los Angeles has an abundance. In the matter of cheap fuel there is no point on the Pacific Coast that is in any degree a competitor. These are only a few facts that

NEW FRUIT-PITTER. A machine portance to fruit-growers who may dry their own fruit and to canners and dryers who buy from growers. The correspondent of The Times at Pasa-dena sent the following description of the interesting invention: DR. GEO. C. SOMERS, NERVOUS AND chronic diseases, and diseases of women; electrical treatment a speciality; hours 1:30 to 5 p.m. 304 STIMSON BLOCK.

The device consists of a detached hopper that holds a fifty-pound box of fruit, and a wooden wheel set vertically on an upright and turned by a crank, which also turns two smaller wheels geared to it by a band, which in their furn cause a servation that geared to it by a band, which in their turn cause a separator to revolve. On the surface of the large wheel are thin wooden cogs, about an eighth of an inch in height and three inches apart, which are designed to take the fruit as it is poured into the hopper, and the wheel is revolved and press it against the knife. The cutter is set in a perpendicular shaft with a triangular cavity lined with tin at the left of the large wheel and to which the fruit gains access through a funnelangular cavity lined with tin at the left of the large wheel and to which the fruit gains access through a funnel-shaped receiver. The knife is about six inches long, set with the edge of the blade toward the wheel, and the point upward, its handle being a three-sided bar, the angle of which follows the curve of the wheel for a distance of about four inches from its junction with the knife, and terminates in a wedge, the blunt end of which is fastened to the upright support of the knife. When the fruit is splif by being brought into contact with the knife it is carrier forward by the wheel and the edge of the wedge divides it. It then falls into the revolving separator which consists of a cylinder of galvanized iron about fourteen inches long, twelve inches in diameter at the larger end and nine inches at the smaller end, which is fastened horizontally to the upright. The separator is perforated with holes an inch and a quarter in diameter and about an inch apart, and through these holes the pits fall into a receptacle prepared for them, the fruit being discharged into another. By means of a steam attachment and an oscillator for the hopper this ingenious cutter and seeder is made perfectly automatic and disposes of 750 pounds of fruit an hour. It is a neat looking arrangement, small and easily handled.

ATLANTA EXPOSITION. The Sterility in Eggs.

In regard to sterile eggs, R. W.

We do not like hard-boiled eggs mixed with the feed of a very little is good, but too much is not. At the large duck farms, where thousands of eggs are set every month, all eggs are tested on the fifth or sixth day of incubation, and the unfertile ones are sold for culinary purposes. We dispose of our unfertile eggs in the way, they being just as good for that purpose as any." Thave been testing the same way, they being just as good for that purposes any." Thave been testing eggs for ten years," adds Mrs. Mary Taylor, in the Fanciers' Monthly, "but never tried to eat one or use one for culinary purposes until this season, neither did I ever sell one, neither have I fed them to the chicks after the first or second season's 'trial, for with me they proved a failure ag chick food, not only the sterile eggs. The tried to eat a market price, and It is an eat looking arrangement, small the bad eggs; but hereafter they shall go on the market at market price, and It is an eat looking arrangement, small will sell them with a clear conscience, and the assurance that whoever buys a dark object in the freshest egg which is the yolk. It will not take much experimenting to the proper divided to the price and of the State Board of Trade, as presented in its resolutions in relation and solution behalf of your county and of the State, your serious consideration and active participation in carrying of growth inside the shell.

was about offe-fourth of the expense of most municipal governments. Now, in several cities, the schools cost as much as all the other departments sustained by taxation. The tuition in high schools is greater than in most colleges. Every pupil in one high school in Chicago costs the taxpayers of the city $115.71 a year, though the tuition in several excellent colleges in Illinois and adjoining States is only $25 for the same period. The money expended for supporting public schools in that city amounts to $8,000,000. But for the large number of pupils in the private and parochial schools, the amount called for would be $12,000,000.

CHINO.

CHINO, July 15.—(Regular Correspondence.) The first accident of the season occurred at the beet-sugar factory Wednesday. One of the huge bollers which help furnish the motive power for the factory burst. A defective oil-burner caused the explosion. The brick and wood work which held the boller in place was blown out on one side. The fireman barely missed being hit by a big iron door, which went salling by him. It is thought all damage will be repaired by Monday.

Now that the factory has started up in dead earnest, the fires will not be allowed to die in the furnaces until the last beets have been harvested. This will probably be five months hence. Night, and day the work goes on, the light for the factory being of the electric quality and made on the ground. The same is true of the ice used. Chino is quite a little empire in itself, and could worry along without assistance.

trie quality and made on the ground. The same is true of the ice used. Chino is quite a little empire in itself, and could worry along without assistance from the outside world better than most any other town in the country.

Few people appreciate how much lime is required in a sugar factory. The Chino company realized this when it purchased the limestone quarry at Bloomington, however, and evidently figured on making this item of expense as low as possible. The quarry is almost three miles from the railroad, and from ten to fifteen carloads a day of the limestone has to be hauled to the station. About one hundred and fifty mules are utilized in this work.

The County Supervisors again decreed that Chino shall be a "dry" town. First F. C. Schumacher appeared before the board, but such a vigorous protest was entered by the citizens of Chino that the board very decidedly told him nay. E. Tisnerat then came before the board and asked to be allowed to run a winery in the proscribed territory. The Supervisors considered this matter Friday, and decided that the winery would be no better than a saloon, and refused to issue the desired license.

Col. W. H. Holabird is the happy saloon, and refused to issue the desired license.

Col. W. H. Holabird is the happy owner of the first sack of sugar produced at the factory this season.

Chino needs a bank, and if the right man will come here and open this much needed institution he may be assured of hearty co-operation on the part of our people. About $600.000 will be put in proposed the part of the part o hearty co-operation on the part of our people. About $600.000 will be put in circulation here by the sugar-beet company, and the Chino Ranch Company distributes no inconsiderable sum annually. And the business of the town is growing rapidly, which, together with the fact that local industries receive all encouragement, would seem to be inducement enough to warrant a banking enterprise with a moderate capital in locating here.

Teachers for the public schools have been selected as follows: Mrs. Jennie Twining, Miss Esther Newton, Miss Iva Armstrong, Miss Esther Newton, Miss Iva Armstrong, Miss Helen Pruitt, Miss L. E. Smith. Mrs. Twining will be principal, assisted by Misses Newton, Armstrong and Pruitt. Miss Smith teaches the East Side school. Men were ignored in the selection of teachers apparently.

Now that the sugar-beet pulp has been found so valuable as a fertilizer and for feed, no more of it will be allowed to go to waste. An immense silo is now being built east of town on the narrow gauge line as a storage reservoir for this pulp. The silo, which is in two sections, has a total length of almost 2000 feet, a depth of 5½ feet and a width of 40 feet. Pulp left over from last season is still in good condition and adapted for feed.

The fraternal societies installed officers this week. The Knights of Pythias Lodge has the following new officers: C.C., A. L. Cavanagh; V.C., W. C. Greenman; M of W., George English; M. of E., O. F. Seeley; M. of F., C. S. Hutchinson; K. of R. and S., N. Sleppy; M. at A., J. J. Post: I.G., John Carlson; O.G., N. Sleppy. The Odd Fellows installed as follows: P.G., George Welman; N.G., S. CHICAGO, July 15.—Reports of damage to spring wheat started the price up from 66½ at Saturday's close to 67268¾ at today's opening. A good deal changed hands between the prices of 67 and 67½. In half an hour the price had declined to 65½ and continued until the visible-supply statement was published, showing a decrease of 2.122,000 bushels for the week. Even then it only recovered about ½c per bushel before it was again smothered with age to short wheat. The visible supply now amounts to 41-237,000 bushels, as compared with 53,154,000 a year ago and 59,325,000 bushels at the corresponding period in 1893. The world's specials are falling off. They are estimated about eight million five hundred thousand bushels for last week. They have, been running at from nine to eleven million bushels for about three months previous. SAVED FROM THEMSELVES.

When the Wilson-Gorman tariff bill became a law, the radical free-trade wing of the Democracy could not find words strong enough to denounce it. resident Cleveland himself, in one of his open letters, characterized it as "the tariff of perfidy and dishonor." Senator Hill opposed the Gorman sub stitute with all his might, and de nounced the completed act in bitter terms. The jereminds of Col. Henri Watterson, and of the entire host of free-trade editors and statesmen, need only to be mentioned to be recalled.

At that time, as readers of The Time may remember, this journal remarked several different occasions that the free-traders of the Democracy, in de nouncing Senator Gorman and his colleagues were burling their anathemas against the best friends of the Demo cratic party. The sequel has proved the correctness of this view. Those conservative Senators who robbed the Wilson bill of many of its radical free trade features, saved the Democracy from itself, and in doing so saved the country from the industrial shock which would have ensued if a pronounced free-trade policy had been

The Wilson bill, as it came from the House, much more nearly approximated a free-trade measure than did the Senate substitute, which finally became the present tariff law. To that extent it was a more dangerous measure than the Senate bill. The latter, while it is a serious menace to some industries and a serious check upon others, is still in many respects a protective measure. To the fact that retained in some degree the protection cessary to the existence of many American industries, the Democracy owes a debt of gratitude. And what ever that party owes in this regard it owes to Mr. Gorman and the other Senators who refused to be coerced by the free-trade wing of the House, with the iniquitous bill prepared under the supervision of Prof. Wilson of West Virginia, and the other Southern freetraders. Instead of denouncing these conservative Senators, the Democracy at large should accord them the highest

It is quite true that the Democratic party went into power pledged to the struction of the protective system. It is equally true that the party's failure to redeem its ante-election pledges in this particular was a humiliating self-stultification and back-down. But for all this it is none the less true that the Democracy's failure was the peo ple's salvation.

The present signs of reviving indutry would not have been seen at this time had the radical free-traders been able to carry out their plans. Instead we should have had continued depres on, with all its direful consequences We should have had Republican vitories just the same at the Novembe ctions in 1894, and they would have een even more sweeping than the were. But the original Wilson bill yould have dealt so severe a blow to rtain industries that even the elecof an overwhelming Republican majority in Congress could hardly have sufficed to stem the tide of dis ster, inasmuch as the law would have had to stand for three years, or until Republican 'President could be

ORPHEUM.-Vaudeville continues its strong hold upon public favor, if one may judge by the big audience which was in attendance at the Orpheum last night. The bill this week, however, is by no means up to the usual high standard, although some of the features are novel and interesting. on the Subject. on the Subject.

Frederick H. Killick is traveling from city to city, giving free lectures, generally before schools and Y.M.C.A's on the science of rescuing and resuscitating the drowning. He spoke last evening, in the Y.M.C.A. Auditorium. evening, in the Y.M.C.A. Auditorium. His lecture was interesting and full of practical value, of information which cannot be gotten from books, for the lecture was fully illustrated by the aid of members of the Y.M.C.A., on whom Mr. Killick demonstrated the whole process of emptying the water from the lungs and inducing artificial respiration.

process of emptying the water from the lungs and inducing artificial respiration.

"Don't roll the patient over a barrell," said Mr. Killick, "That is almost enough to kill a man who is in perfect health. After wiping the foam from the lips and nostrils' lay the unconscious man, prone, with his forehead resting on his arm. Place a thick roll of clothing under him, so as to raise the portion of the body between the throat and the pit of the stomach. Then, by lifting the body at the waist at short intervals, the water will flow from the stomach and lungs.

"Next produce artificial respiration. Press the body so as to expel the air, then remove the pressure, affecen times per minute, keep this up for three hours, if necessary. The man may seem quite dead for that length of time, and yet be brought back to life."

Mr. Killick went on to explain the particulars, clearly illustrating his meaning by the aid of the young men. He then showed the proper way in which to make the swimming motions.

Mr. Killick gives a practical demonstration this evening, at the Natatorium. Admission is free, but by ticket only. Tickets may be had for the esking upon application at the Y.M.C.A. reoms.

CHAUTAUQUA MEETINGS AT LONG BEACH,

Excellent Advantages and Facilities for This Year's Session-Opened with Music-Address of Welcome by a Four-year-old.

LONG BEACH, July 15. Correspondence.) The Chautauqua Asdeceptive as to outward appearances, at first glance. If you try to read as you run you may surmise that the figure upon its front is his satanic majesty in the act of impaling a streak of lightning upon his three-pronged fork. closer inspection, however, you conclude that the old gentleman dressed in a crown and a flowing beard is Father Neptune himself, navigating old ocean upon an ancient shelt of large size. Whether his attitude indicates bold daring or fear, is not quite apparent. I shall investigate the mythological meaning and application of this dark, wet scene, and if it has special bearing upon the work of the Chautauqua in general, or the assembly in particular, I shall report my findings.

Everybody knows that Long Beach is about the best place on the Coast at the present time, for Chautauqua Assembly purposes, and this, the terith annual session, running from July 15 to 25, and extending itself as a summer school to August 15, will, from present indications, be the best of all the excellent sessions which have gathered the people from near and far to enjoy intellectual feasts. Its energetic officers have spent much time in arranging the details of an elaborate plan of procedure. These officers have all been closely connected with the organization, even from its birth. Its able president, Rev. S. H. Weller, a college graduate, with degress A.M. and D.D., ex-president of two colleges, a man who has traveled extensively in this and foreign countries, and who has stood upon many lecture platforms, is personally looking after the work here.

Prof. George R. Crow, its secretary,

Prof. George R. Crow, its secretary also a college graduate, with degrees A.B. and A.M., is hard at work, as usual, and will see to it that the things which need looking after, shall be attended to. Prof. Crow is an old soldier who wore shoulder-straps, and a pushing business man. His are the qualifications to insure a seef, financial feations to insure a seef, financial fications to insure a safe, financia policy, and plenty of iron for the blood of the organization.

The gentleman who handles the money, C. A. Baskerville, has been a Chautauquan at heart for many years A prosperous business man, well and favorably known in business, religious and social circles in Los Angeles, is a fitting person to complete the trio at the head of the assembly organization.

The tabernacle has been very much enlarged, so that its seating capacity is nearly doubled. The new rostrum is of ample dimensions and nicely carpeted. The churches and school building will be utilized for the summer school classes.

The summer school course of instruction will be quite complete, biology, botany, zoology, conchology, Latin Greek and the modern languages are among the prominent things to be offered. Prof. A. J. Cook of Pomona College. lege has the management of the schools With Prof. Cook at the head it must be a success.

At 8 o'clock Rev. Dr. Weller announced that the hour had arrived for the opening of the Chautauqua assembly of '95. The grand chorus of about sixty voices, under the leadership of Prof. C. S. Cornell, rendered an anthem is an especially creditable manner. The professor is to be congratulated upon the success of the musical organization of the vary opening.

Prof. Cornell and Mr. Zinck sans recalled.

President Weller delivered an address making a clear-cut speech relating to the Assembly, past, present and future, speaking of the dark financial condition of the past, all of which has passed away. The assembly is now upon a firm financial basis. The president outlined the plan of work for the coming session.

Miss Murphy pleased her audience very much.

Prof. A. J. Cook of Pomona College gave an address upon "Science in the Summer School." Science is the main feature of the summer school. Ento-mology will be made very practical both for the horticulturist and the teacher. The study will be with the microscope and scalpel.

Prof. A. J. McClatchie of Throop
Polytechnic Institute, Pasadena, spoke of the late methods of study in the scior the late methods or study in the science of botany and physiology. The teaching now trained the student to be able to see, and how to express what he sees by drawing and otherwise. Prof. Elmer E. Brown followed with an address on pedagogy. The professor did not treat the subject as though it were a dry and fossilized subject. The subject as to be studied under him will be made very new, and those who study with him will be amply repaid. Rev. J. C. Fletcher spoke briefly in behalf of "Art and History." The doctor, as usual, knew how to say some things in a very humorous way and said them along with the more solid. The summer school this year is to be a great feature, and the corps of instructors are the men and women who are able to make it as good as can be organized anywhere in the United States. Everybody should select some special line of work and begin at once. None will certainly regret it. Prof. Cornell called attention to the chorus practice and the class work in music. This opportunity for practice and training is one that should not be lost by any who can avail themselves of it. The violin solo by M. Krauss was a superb thing and the audience called loudly for a repetition. The chorus followed with another fine production. Mrs. Bosch then appeared and was greeted with applause. She sang. The closing number was "Inflammatus," from Rossin's "Stabet Mater," by Mrs. Bosch and the entire chorus. This was a very fine rendering.

TUESDAY'S PROGRAMME.

Tuesday's programme opens with a Bible-reading at 8 asm. This is held in the Tabernacle. Rev. F. M. Larkin's Bible normal class at 9 o'clock is also at the same place. The School of Art and Design, L. E. Garden McLeod, holds its session at 9 o'clock in Foresters' Hall. At 10 o'clock Mrs. Anna S. Averill discusses English literature at the Tabernacle, Prof. Elmer E. Prof. Cook, who will speak on the subject, "Physiology with Manikin." This seems to be a dry subject, but Prof. Cook will put flesh on the bones and make it a most interesting lecture, for he knows how to do it.

IN ELECTRICITY.

RESULTS ACHIEVED BY MEN WITH INVENTIVE MINDS.

sbestos as Applied to Electrica Work-Telephone Messages Must be Kept Secret in New York

NEW YORK, July 9, 1895,-The burnquestion of the day in relative part which steam and electricity are to play in the rail-coad traffic of the future. Out of the engrossing and exhaustive discussion of this subject which has lately been progress, the public are, at length, beginning to form a definite idea of the outlook. The problem for which a so-lution has been desired is "Steam or Electricity?" The solution reached is "Steam and Electricity." As Frank J. itself down to the number of train unicoperated between terminal points. Make that number sufficiently large and the electric motor is the best means of proitself down to the number of train unit that number sufficiently large and the electric motor is the best means of propulsion, whether for high or low speed. Decrease this number and you must rely on steam. In other words, electricity will but partially take the place of steam locomotive for railway service, and then only when the number of units operated between terminal points is so large that the resulting economy will pay a reasonable interest on the combined cost of a central station system of conductors and the motor equipment, and the traffic existing is commensurate with the needs of such a system. Mr. Sprague urges the putting aside of "some of the visionary prophecies concerning electric railways." The future of the electric railway is not in aside of "some of the visionary propne-cies concerning electric railways." The future of the electric railway is not in the wholesale destruction of existing great systems. It is in the develop-ment of a field of its own, with recog-nized limitations, but of vast possibili-ties. It will replace the locomotive on nized limitations, but of vast possibilities. It will replace the locomotive on many suburban and branch lines; it will operate almost all street railway systems and elevated and underground roads; it will prove a valuable auxiliary to trunk systems; but it has not sounded the death-knell of the locomotive any more than the dynamo has sounded that of the stationary steam engine. Each has its own legitimate field in the traction work of the future.

THE ELECTROTHERM. THE ELECTROTHERM

The fact that asbestos phys a remarkably useful part in electrical work is not generally recognized. For purposes of insulation this unique material meets the most exacting requirements, and its use by electricians is daily increasing. Its latest application is in the electrotherm, the new device which has already begun to take the place of hot water bottles in hospitals and invalid hambers. The electrotherm is a flex ble sheet or pad composed of ashestos in which electric wires are embedded. When these wires are connected to any source of electric current a constant source of electric current a constant and uniform degree of heat is generated. For this connection the socket of an electric lamp is ordinarily found most convenient, but where the lighting current is not available, batteries can be used. The pad is found a great convenience in the relief of chilliness, cold feet, etc., as well as in cramps and other local pains, and in general hospital practice. By its use the risk and discomfort of frequent changes of temperature incident to the renewal of ordinary hot applications are entirely obvinted. It can be moistened without injury, and it can be made to give the effect of a poultice or moist heat by being applied over one or more thicknesses of wet flannel. It can be used by any one with perfect safety, and its simplicity and convenience wherever simplicity and convenience whereve the application of artificial heat is desired render it especially valuable for medical use. The regulation of the temperature is effected by a conveniently-placed switch. Pads can thus be maintained at approximately 130 deg., 170 deg., and 220 deg. F., when covered with ordinary bed clothing, but these temperatures can be modified by the interposition of a blanket, or raised by additional coverings. This new adaptation of the principle of electric heating is made in various forms, from the simple pad, which lends itself to all ordinary uses, and the wicker-covered mat, or feet-warmer, to a cape-like covering, which will completely enwrap the neck and the upper part of the body.

ELECTRIC POWER A SALEABLE

An incident is reported from Niagara Falls, which illustrates the readiness of manufacturers to utilize electric power. It has been generally expected that It has been generally expected that. Buffalo would be a large user of the electric power generated by the Cataract Company at Niagara Falls. Considerable delay has taken place in the negotiations between the city and the company for the power, and in the meantime, another customer has arisen. According to a Buffalo paper, "While Buffalo is dickering for Niagara Falls power and talking about impossible restrictions, Depew has made a bid for it, and literally goes half way to get it. In all probability Depew will get the power before Buffalo does." As a matter of fact, Depew, a growing town, eight miles from Buffalo, actually stepped in, and pre-empted a large amount of the power for which Buffalo was somewhat too complacently bargaining. The town has large locomotive shops, coupler works, etc., and in the acquisition of the new power it has made a big bid for proposerity. tive shops, coupler works, etc., and in the acquisition of the new power it has made a big bid for prosperity.

THE CAUSE OF DEATH IN ELEC-The theory of the disintegrating effect nerve tissues in persons electrocuted has been controverted by Dr. A. M. Blelle. Dr. Blelle holds that death in electric shock is entirely owing to the contraction of the arteries produced by the current through its influence on the nervous system. The effect of this constriction is that the heart fails in its attempt to overcome the mechanical impediment arising from the greatly retarded flow of blood. In the course of investigations on this subject, it has been found that where drugs have been given to counteract the constrictive effect of the current, much larger doses of electricity than the ordinary can be borne. This fact cannot but have a bearing upon the much-disputed question of resuscitation after electrocution. Notwithstanding the apparently conclusive testimony which has been given on this subject, it is still believed by some medical experts that given a criminal who had an exceptional capacity for resisting the electric shock—and this capacity varies in every one—and his power of resistance be still further, increased by a timely dose of the drugs mentioned, the effect the nervous system. The effect of this constriction is that the heart fails in its be still further increased by a timel dose of the drugs mentioned, the effect of the electrocuting current would be so far modified as to make it possible to resuscitate the body after the execution, even though signs of apparent leath were exhibited.

"Sh!" said her mother,
"But, mamma, just one question, only

"Well, softly," answered the mother

"Well, soft!y," answered the moths seeing that the question must come. "How many prophets were there?" "I don't know." "Can't you guess?" "No; now keep quiet." "Were there three?" "Oh, yes. Sh!"

"Yes. Don't ask another question!"
"Yes. Don't ask another question!"
"Twenty?" continued Effy, her eyes distending. The mother was in despair, and answered, "Yes."
"Then, mamma, tell me this."

"Hush!"
"Just this," and by this time the little girl's voice was quite audible; "how could twenty prophets all hang on two commandments?"

Hung like moons on the stalk,
Sprawling from marge to marge,
Fringeling my garden walk,
Supple and sleek you twine,
Facing the tranquil west,
Velvety-veined, each line,
Breathing of warmth and rest.

Then when the waiting earth
Thrills at the touch of spring
Stung into sudden birth.
Up to the light you fling
Passionate-hued, like fire,
Petal and pointed horn,
Restless as sharp desire.
Dainty with virgin scorn.

Bo should the singer go,
Drinking the friendly air,
Calm, unimpassioned; slow,

Loosing the pent desire,
Thrilled with a reckless might,

ESCONDIDO. July 11, 1895.—F. O. Houbert. Los Angeles: Well Fred, I received your letter and would ask of you not to judge my recent actions too harshly under the circumstances. I did the best I could. I am doing all I can now. You have now more to thank me for than you think. But a certain amount of investigation now cannot be avoid and under the circumstances is for all parties concerned. I have from the first done all done all that I possibly could to forward the happiness of you both, regardless of myself in any way and would now if possible, and you do me an injustice when you accuse me of thinking you were fishing for my life insurance, although it may seem so to you, but if you will recall the circumstances of the past 18 months you will see that things were very uncertain and I assure you I never had thought you never tried to do me an injury. Far from it; you did everything in your power to relieve me and I only hope I will continue to improve as fast as I have the two months I was in the mountains. I need no assurance to know you will do all you can for our "little gfrl," and make it pleasant as possible and hope her health will improve on the return.

Yours truly,

Yours truly,

In explanation of the circumstance that this letter was dated at Escondido, Houbert said that Symington had been taken away from the association of himself and wife, who was formerly wife to Symington, and is the person referred to as "our little girl," and is being kept in Escondido by the lodge of which the sick man is a member.

Houbert says he never intended to build a $1,000,000 residence in Los Angeles for several reasons, only two of which need be mentioned. One is that he could not, and the other is he does not like this city well enough to build a 5-cent house in it.

Orange county roads seem to be the bleyclers' delight. Smooth, hard and as dry as punk, they are the source of much pleasure to wheelmen, not only of that particular locality, but of neigh-boring counties, who find their way over them on pleasure bent.

Few things are more provocative of double-distilled, four-ply merriment than the squabbles indulged in by the gentlemen who conduct the fortunes of the suburban press. Of late a spirited ssion has prevailed between the rural journals as to whether it is properer" to say "I differ with" or "I differ from" you. The number of spite-ful flings engendered by this vicious controversy is simply immense.

A correspondent writes to The Times suggesting the need of a non-sectarian college and preparatory school in Southern California, and rightly says that Los Angeles is the best place for the establishment of such an institution. This city is unquestionably destined to become a great educational center, and its progress in that direction would certainly be accelerated by the successful establishment of a school such as the correspondent suggests.

In the report of the reception tendered by The Times last Saturday evening, the fact that the Blanchard-Fitzgerald Band of Los Angeles was present was inadvertently omitted. The omission is more to be regretted, inasmuch as the first piece the band played on its appearance before the "Old Guard" was the "Star-spangled Banner," which was much in evidence on the occasion. The apology due is hereby tendered. The compliment paid by the band to The Times is highly appreciated,

The cheerful guilelessness of the citizen who yesterday petitioned the City Police Commissioner, urging as cause the lack of political, social (instinctively we think of evil,) and religious bias which the applicant for official honors alleges he is blessed with, filled the minds of the city Solons with admira-tion. The bravery of the sheep who ventured among the wolves is not a marker when compared with the hardihood ex-hibited by this esteemed citizen of the Angel City. Police Commissioners are born, not made.

In the correspondence from San Bernardino in this morning's Times is a statement that the hotel at Arrowhead Hot Springs, which was destroyed by fire on July 4 last, is to be rebuilt. The hotel that was burned was one of the largest and handsomest in that locality, and the fact that it is to be rebuilt is evidence of the faith the stockholders in it have of the sure progress of Southern California. The hotel is to be rebuilt lower down the mountain, so that the water from the springs can be brought to it by gravity. It is said that the new structure will be larger and of a more solid construction than the one burned down.

You are away off, stranger. Los Angeles papers are not "swaggering" over the increase in population and wealth of its city. But if it comes right down to solid facts, why shouldn't they? They have worked to build up their city instead of working to hulld it down. instead of working to build it down. They have, in fact, attended strictly to their own business, which, by the way, would be a mighty good thing for other cities and resurrence to the contraction. cities and newspapers to do.

"No, not quite that. Just a year ago last May I started on a 2000-mile trip along the waterways of Athabasca. I went with a missionary party, to protect its members from drowning and to rescue any stores which might fall overboard. It was a beautiful journey. It never got entirely dark during the tect its members from drowning and to rescue any stores which might fall overboard. It was a beautiful journey. It never got entirely dark during the whole three months. One could see to write at midnight.

"I spent all last winter at Athabasca Landing, several hundred miles north of the United States boundary line. The days grew shorter and shorter until night lasted from 4:30 p.m. to 9:30 the next morning. We stayed in bed while darkness lasted, for coalicl cost $1 a gallon and we couldn't afford to sit up, besides which there wasn't anything in particular to do when we were up.

"I kept a big stove burning all the time, and by slinging my hammock right over it managed to keep comfortably warm. One night I looked at my pocket thermometer and found it registered 72 deg. A few minutes later I accidentally tumbled out of my hammock right on top of the stove, then rolled off onto the floor. My faithful thermometer, came with me. I laid it under the stove, in which a roaring fire was going, and it sank to 7 deg. below zero. But no wonder, it was 58 deg. below out of doors.

"When we wanted fresh air we harnessed the dogs to a sled and went skimming away across the frozen snow. Four dogs can drag 1000 pounds seventy miles in a day.

"Here's another way we used to exercise." He took a leathery something out of his satchel. "This is dried moose meat, When we kill game in winter we hang it up out of doors and it freezes as solid as a rock and is always fresh and nice for eating. But in summer we cut the flesh into strips and hang it in the sun to dry. There's nothing like it for developing the muscles of the jaw. And it makes mighty good eating when one has a backwoods appetite and plenty of time to spare."

Cotton Remnants, Silk Remnants, Velvet Remnantsthe entire accumulation of every remnant left in the house. A great many of these Remnants have been marked down. Even at the reduction we offer every remnant of every kind in the house at exactly one-half the marked price. It is the intention to make quick work of the entire stock of Remnants. A great many of the finer Wash Goods Remnants are being sold for less than the price of prdinary calico. Some have been reduced once, others twice, and now every Remnant goes to one-half. It makes no difference what the price has been, what the reduction has been, they are now one-half of the price we find on them. There has never been such a price put on Remnants in this city. There never has been such a desirable lot of Remnants sold. Nearly every one is this season's goods. Yesterday was a big Remnant trade—today will be better. We started in with Wool Dress Goods. Since then we have added Silks, Velvets and Cotton Wash Goods. There is not a Remnant in the lot that is not worth double this Remnant price. You will find them for convenience on the north aisle.

Rumor number one declared that the resignation of Mr. Barham was a bluff from the very beginning; that the astute Commissioner conceived the idea of using this method of working the Council and the public in general, to the end that future criticism of his conduct might be warded off, should his resignation not be accepted by the Council. This rumor does no great credit to the gentleman's sincerity, and is indignantly denied by his friends, who assert that Mr. Barham was dead in earnest when he offered his resignation and will be heart-broken should the cruel Councilmen refuse to accept the same.

Various members of the Council are reported to be feeling exceedingly sore over the communication recently sent to the Council from the Police Commissioners anent the social-evil question in which the Councilmen were accused by the Commission of insincerity, cowardice and several other things which do not read well in print. As the commission is simply the servant of the Council, and in this case, a rather saucy and independent servant, rumor number two hints that four or five official heads may shortly share the fate of the man who interviewed the guillotine.

President Teed, when asked about this proposition, smiled a Machievellian smile, looked grimly wise, and quoted poetry from Byron to the effect that even the worm will turn under a certain amount of provocation, or something similar to that sentiment. Then the president leaned back in his stuffed chair and dreamily described now in the hazy past a certain Police Commission suffered the fate colloquially described as "bounce."

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

THE COURTS.

Suspicious Character Bound f Chicago or Elsewhere.

Suspicion clouded the air of Department Three yesterday afternoon so thickly that it could have been scraped up in handfuls, as judge, physicians and lawyers gazed skeptically at a tall, blonde man, with a Vandyke beard, who was spotlessly arrayed in garments of the latest cut, and bore an air of general peace and prosperity.

peace and prosperity.

Who this man was, no one quite knew. He gave the name of Jesus Christ, and was docketed as John Doe. He looked somewhat over 30 years of age, but blandly stated that he was born at San Pedro last Saturday morning. He looked mundane and common-place to the last degree, yet benignly vouchsafed to the eager listeners that he was under the personal direction of the Holy Ghost; that he had come down from Heaven to save the world, and that he meant to commence his career of universal salvation in the city of Chicago.

This seemed reasonable, too reasonable, in fact, as were all the proceedings of J. C. Doe. There was over-much method in his madness, and a burnt court dreads the bogus lunatic.

The officials thought of the harrowing experience of Department Two, and were silently watchful. Unbelief stood out in knots all over the doctors, and the deputy sheriffs looked askance at the divine visitant under their charge.

The object of all this solicitude smiled vacantly into space, while Police Officer A. P. Richardson recounted how he had seen this man in the morning, hanging around the Santa Fe depot, and endeavoring to buy a ticket to Chicago for $5. He refused to be put off, and persisted in his demand until he was taken in charge by the policeman, when he marched off peaceably enough. The man had no papers or other property by which his identity might be known, and was remarkably "mum" when questions concerning this important point were asked him, although he talked gilbly enough about his "mission." He forgot to look vacant once or twice and Who this man was, no one quite knew

When Drs. Mathis and Miller had conferred for a few minutes with Judge York, the latter turned and announced that the case would be continued until next Thursday, the patient meanwhile to be taken to the County Hospital.

Deep thoughtfulness prevailed for a while in Department Three, and the question asked by the entire Courthouse is: "Which paper does he represent?"

Thieves have been ever since the birth of Time, but never did bold burglar intent on raking in all the valuables in sight, make a queerer choice of booty than did John T. Diebels, when he entered the residence of Alexander Detor, one fine day, and wilfully, feloniously and burglariously abstracted therefrom a Bible and a breast-pump. Just what Mr. Diebels proposed to make of these articles is uncartain, unless he fondly dreamed of establishing a Christian household upon this religious and domestic basis. However that may be, his castle in Spain was rudely shattered by the heavy hand of the constable who heartlessly collared the implements of spiritual and physical sustenance, and landed the adventurous Diebels in the County Jail. He remained there for 115 days, and was yesterday brought before Judge Smith to answer for his crimes. The divorce case of Maria Ewing vs. W. S. Ewing was tried yesterday behind closed doors in Department Three. The grounds upon which the application was made were extreme cruelty and the habitual use of abusive and profane language by Ewing to his wife. An Associated Press dispatch from San Francisco says: "Judge Sanderson in the Superior Court, today, overruled the demurrer-to the complaint of the Southern Pacific Company against 'Stop-over' Robinson' and those who have actions pending against the company for penalty for refusing to accept tickets after a stop-over. The Southern Pacific had alleged conspiracy on the part of the defendants to ments, and is again merely the Board of Supervisors. The relatives and friends of Rupert T. Griffith were shocked yesterday morning by the rumor that he had com-mitted suicide at his father-s ranch in mitted suicide at his father-s ranch in the Castaic Canyon. The first informa-tion received in the city relative to the tragedy was a telegram to his father. J. M. Mr. Griffith conveyed the news to Coroner Campbell who left for the scene of the shooting on the 8:16 a.m. train.

No further news of the tragedy was received until the Coroner returned on the Santa Barbara train at 10:10 o'clock last evening. All day long the numerous friends of the young man kept hoping against hope that the report might prove erroneous. It was only too true, however, for the same train on which Coroner returned, brought to the all that was mortal of Rupert T. fifth, who had indeed suicided. The rash act was committed about o'clock Sunday evening, and the oner's jury found that death was ged by a gunshot wound inflicted Griffith's own hand while he was tering from a temporary fit of intro.

by Griffith's own hand while he was suffering from a temporary fit of insanity.

The testimony brought out at the inquest showed that the young man had been very despondent of late, and had been afflicted with violent headaches. On Sunday he took a swim in a reservoir, after which it was noticed that he looked very wan and enervated. He also had his hair cropped close, but he said this did not seem to relieve his headache. The weather was very hot in the canyon, and this seemed to increase his sufferings.

Late Sunday evening he kissed his wife, who had been ill for about ter diays, and told her he was going into the kitchen to help wash the dishes. He disys, and told her he was going into the kitchen to help wash the dishes. He disys, and told her he was going into the kitchen to help wash the dishes. He disys, to follow him, he proceeded to a hammock swung from some trees near the house, and threw himself into it. Kersey seated himself upon a wheelbarrow near by, and the two men began talking about affairs pertaining to the ranch. Griffith referred to the fence troubles that the ranchers in the canyon have been having, and remarked that the people thereabouts seemed to think he was a millionaire and could do anything, when, in fact, he was not able to pay the help on the ranch.

"But maybe my troubles won't last long," said he. "Fifteen minutes sometimes makes a big difference."

While Griffith was thus discoursing in a rambling sort of a way, Kersey paid indifferent attention. The night was very dark and he could not see what Griffith was doing. The remark about the speedy ending of his troubles had scarcely passed his lips, before Kersey saw a flash and heard the report of a pistol. He sprang to his feet and rushed to the young man's side, only to find him dying from a bullet wound through his head. Death was not instantaneous, but the victim lingered only half an hour and never regained consciousness.

was not instantaneous, but the victim lingered only half an hour and never regained consciousness.

As soon as Kersey realized what Griffith had done, he called for help and the dying man was borne into the house. His mother-in-law, Mrs. Wright of Riverside, exclaimed: "Oh, Rupe, why dit you do this?"

By this time his wife had risen from her sick bed and threw herself on his body where she remained until his life was extinct. The scene was very affecting.

The examination showed that Griffith had deliberately placed the muzzle of a 32-caliber pistol into his mouth and fired. The bullet passed out of the back of his head, and Rupert T. Griffith's troubles were ended.

The circumstances leading to the young man's morbid mental condition are not altogether clear, but his insanty was probably due to several causes. It is alleged that he had twice taken a cure for alcoholism, having been somewhat addicted to drink. The fencing troubles and inability to pay the ranch help, according to his own assertion, appear to have preyed on his mind, which had already been rendered weak by his physical aliments.

It is also stated that he brooded over his recent marriage, it being alleged that his relatives were opposed to the funion he had formed. However, he seemed to be very fond of his wife, and there was no apparent discord between them.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

The Church and Church Attendance SANTA BARBARA, July 11, 1895.— (To the Editor of The Times:) May I state, through your columns, my belief as to the "heathenism" and lack of church-attendance in New England, restate, through your columns, my belief as to the "heathenism" and lack of church-attendance in New England, referred to in your editorial space today? The New England churches hold too strictly to the doctrine of "Christ alone," "the only hope of salvation," and to belief in the Bible as "a perfect rule of faith and practice."

We of today, many of us, have learned the truth that a God-life may be lived just as well outside of the churches as in them. We have learned, also, that "the Bible is only one of God's primers," by and through which He has taught and is teaching many wonderful truths, yet there is much necessary truth to be learned outside the Bible boroe we can to any degree realize among the people we live with, and under present circumstances, that ideal life so held up to us in the Bible.

Modern Christianity has great problems and wonderful opportunities before it, and it will never solve these problems satisfactorily, nor make right use of its opportunities, until it broadens out its application of Christ's charity, until it awakes to the fact that "time makes ancient good uncouth," and until it has in its pulpits men of more fire, men of more sincere, intelligent and practical application of God's truths. Then we may expect to see the beginning of that day when the sort of "heathenism" to which you refer will be greatly lessened, but until that day comes the amount of "church-attendance" by carnest, thinking, sincere people, as well as by the careless, will not be increased.

Yours very truly, Yours very truly,

It is to be noted that seedling oranges and Mediterranean sweets failed to sell this season, a fact that should not be lost upon Northern California horticulturists who propose to set out orange orchards. The Washington navel and other early varieties are what should be planted in the northern counties having a "citrus belt."

A Times reporter visited the State orphans' Home, corner of Alpine and Tale streets, yesterday, and spent two nours rambling over the institution.

The building is admirably constructed for the purpose, in the form of a huge T, and into each room, through the large and humerous windows, pour the air and sunshine. If the proverbial Hollanders presided over the place it could not be more spotlessly clean for from one end to the other, not one speck of dust was to be found, and floors and furniture fairly shone with cleanliness. The thirty-three small youngsters, sitting quietly in their little chairs, were invited to "sing for the lady," without a leader, and up they lifted their little, piping voices in "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," and "America."

At Christmas they are overflowing, but at this time of year there is a harrowing collection of headless and limbless dolls and battered furniture, which are bubtless just as dear to the small omen's hearts as when they were new doubtless just as dear to the small women's hearts as when they were new and shipy.

In the boys' playroom was gathered about Miss Morrow and her sewing machine, a group of small boys, industriously patching and sewing on buttons. Little George Maier trotted up to the reporter and proudly exhibited a minute pair of trousers, a patch neatly inserted in that location where patches are soonest required.

In the girls' sewing-room were gathered some of the larger girls, busily mending and sewing. One girl brought up a dish towel so neatly hemmed that the small seamstress's evident pride was quite justifiable.

When it is found that a child has a special talent for anything, it is seen that that talent is carefully cultivated. Fecio Salvadoria, a boy of twelve years, is showing marked ability in drawing, and on one of the blackboards is a large picture done by him in colored crayon, that shows considerable talent. He is a bright-faced, attractive boy, and not only can he draw, but he is a clever assistant to the cook and is famous for not only can he draw, but he is a clever assistant to the cook, and is famous for

The managers try to sink the institution idea and, as far as possible, make one big family of the children. It is believed that the best thing for the children is to be put into good homes, and, as fast as possible, they are placed there, but many of the homes offered are not suitable and great care is taken to investigate them before the children are allowed to leave the home. Many of the half-orphans carnot be placed, because the parent will not consent. The managers believe that if a parent can help support a child he or she must be made to do it, and they try not to make paupers of either parents or children.

The children are never dressed in mischer and the appears to the second to th

The children are never dressed in uniform, and have always been sent to the public school, but now that the industrial department has been put in, the plain English branches will be taught in the home.

year-old girl, but well matured for her age, did not wish to become a Salvation Army lassle, she ran away from her parents' home on Macy street, Sunday age, did not wish to become a Salvation army lassie, she ran away from her parents' home on Macy street, Sunday evening, with a young man named White, and took up her abode under a strange roof. The parents of the way-ward girl are strict Salvationists, and thought their daughter was old enough to join the army and don the Salvation garb. Miss Bertha thought otherwise. She abominated the Salvation uniform and particularly resented her parents objection to her attending parties of young folks and indulging in the gaities that youthis prone to. This is why she forsook her home and went away with the young man.

The parents of the girl were frantic over their daughter's escapade, and haunted the police station Sunday night and a good portion of yesterday in the hope of getting some clew to the whereabouts of their child. The police were on the lookout for the girl, but it remained for the anxious mother and an army sister to discover her location.

About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon the girl's mother and another female soldier in the Salvation Army rushed breathless into the police station and reported that they knew where Bertha "was at." They said she and White were occupying the same room and asked for an officer to accompany them to the place to put both under arrest.

Officer Richardson went with the women, and was plloted to the Melrose Hotel on Sixth street. Bertha was found there in room 28, but the young man was not with her. The landlady said a young man engaged the room on Sunday for his sister, and, as she had no means of knowing that it was otherwise, she rented the room to him and the girl came there. She said White had not been in the room with the girl at any time.

Miss Fisher consented to go home with her mother, so she was not arrested. She said, however, that she would rather go to the Reform School than stay at home if she had to become a Salvation Army lassie.

The Gunn Fruit Company of St. Louis, Mo., reports that no California fruits handled are failures. They say: "We think the average California packer or shipper has ideas ahead of the Eastern receivers, and we don't feel competent to offer suggestions to a Barnett Bros. of Chicago handle de-

AUTHORITIES ARE GETTING AFTER THE LAW-BREAKERS

Death of N. S. Jenkins-Most of the Churches Are Not Closed-Horses That Are Afraid of Burros-Bai Club Report.

PASADENA, July 15.—(Regular Correspondence.) It is now to be demonstrated in Pasadena whether one of our ordinances will be able to "ordain" or not. It is well known the the gambling ordinance, as it now stands, is wholly ineffectual to prevent gambling, and, reading it carefully, the observant critic s inclined to believe that the ordinance was rather framed for the protection of was rather framed for the protection of that vice, than for its extermination. It is an open secret that the keeper of the "joint" in the First National Bank building, whose shameless violation of the law was noticed in this column, rented a building in Chinatown, and is suspected of there maintaining a place where boys and young men gamble, even if they do not do worse. When gambling is exposed by the newspapers as existing in a certain place, a sort of caution is observed for a time by the violators of the law, but, not finding themselves molested, they transfer their base of operations and continue their nefarious business. Covert violations of the law have led to-an open and flagrant breach of an ordinance.

W. J. Robinson, the proprietor of the Saddle Rock restaurant, was arrested about 9 o'clock Sunday night by Officer Goltman, who detected him serving beer to customers in a back room of his place, without even a pretense that the liquor was furnished with meals. A formal complaint has been made out, charging Robinson with the violation of the law, and the case will probably soon be called for trial.

DEATH OF N. S. JENKINS. that vice, than for its extermination. I

DEATH OF N. S. JENKINS. Many Pasadena people will hocked to learn of the death of N. Many Pasadena people will be shocked to learn of the death of N. S. Jenkins, who resided until recently in the Kimball house on California street, with his family, and who left here about a month ago for his home in Cleveland. Mr. Jenkins had twice made his residence in California, and each time had returned to the East to attend to business matters. His death resulted from consumption, which was contracted from a cold taken two years ago, when he assisted in saving from a fire many of the effects of his firm. He left Pasadena considerably improved in health, and hopeful for the future. He was for many years a partner in the firm of H. R. Hatch & Co., of Cleveland, and was a prominent Mason, being a member of the Oriental Commandery. His widow and two daughters survive him.

PASADENA BREVITTES.

For some reason or other, the Pasadena horses seem to have a natural antipathy to the cotton-fiannely, motheaten, long-cared burros, which are much affected by the campers-out, on account of the ability of said burro to eat little and endure much. Many horses that will pass the electric cars quietly, will shy and be frightened at a burro. This morning a man driving a burro which was packed with a miscellaneous collection of articles, passed through the streets, and several horses took fright at the aspect of the brute, the most serious case being that of the horse of Samuel L. Wallis, which passed the burro on West Colorado street, near the Terminal Depot, and was so terrified that he started to run, then stopped and began kicking and plunging wildly, breaking both shafts of the buggy, and throwing Mr. Wallis to the ground. The horse fell twice, in his mad efforts to free himself from the buggy, and then ran away. He was caught before any further damage was done, and Mr. Wallis was assisted to rise, and it was found that he had escaped with a few bad scratches and contusions.

In Sunday's paper the correspondent PASADENA BREVITIES.

of the "glorious climate." In speaking of the churches it was stated that "most of the churches are closed." That is the "lapsus." Most of the churches are not closed here on Sunday, even in midsummer. The Universalist Church is entirely closed, both for church and Sunday-school. The Episcopalian Sunday-school is suspended for the time being, but the other churches are open, and though the bulk of population is away at the mountains and summer resorts, there are still enough people left in town to give fair Sunday audiences. It is not the intention of The Times to make erroneous reports, and when an error is made, it hastens to set forth the "amende honorable," or in other words, it "acknowledges the corn."

There was a good attendance at the special service of the Young Men's Christian Association Sunday afternoon, and the orchestra proved a valuable addition to the song service. The instrumental pieces rendered were "Twilight Dews" and "Incline Thing Ear." The scripture selection was read by the president, Dr. Fordyce Grineli, after which there was prayer, a solo and an eloquent address. The services closed with the singing of "Hallelujah for the Cross," accompanied by the orchestra.

The members of the Bait Club who closed with the singing of "Hailelujah for the Cross," accompanied by the orchestra.

The members of the Bait Cluit who went up to the formal opening of the new clubhouse, returned today, all reporting a good time. As the chief beremony of the occasion was to devour the good things provided by the club, every member present performed his part in the programme to his own satisfaction, and to the admiration of all the others. Frank Dagget and Judge Rose, who have been for eighteen days in the mountains, came down this afternoon, looking bronzed and happy.

There is "something in a name" after all, or else Mr. Pennoyer, who has enriched our city's strong box with an unwilling contribution of $5, is the victim of circumstances. He got drunk on Sunday, sobered up on Monday, pald his fine and is probably in the frame of mind to regret his boisterous lag on Tuesday. He is not related to the Governor of Oregon, no more than is he related to the famous Governor of North Carolina, who said to the Governor of South Carolina, etc.

SANTA MONICA.

Tale of the Thresher-Canyon Amen ities-Local Notes.

SANTA MONICA, July 15,-(Regula Correspondence.) Walter Schee re turned today from a trip to Redlands

SANTA MONICA, July 15.—(Regular Correspondence.) Walter Schee returned today from a trip to Rediands, where he spent Sunday with his father's family, returning to continue his supervision of threshing now going forward in San Vicente ranch. He tells your correspondent that the yield of barley is somewhat disappointing. There is a fine return, but the crop runs more to straw and less to grain than had been hoped. The Schee Bros. have now threshed about one-quarter of their acreage in the ranch and feel satisfied that they will have about $5,000 sacks when the last day's run is cleaned up. It makes a profitable season's work, even at the present low price of grain. The Old Canyon has attracted considerable attention of late by reason of the quarrels and disputes which have found their way into the local courts. As a sort of finish to the dissentions a petition was recently filed with the Board of Supervisors making derogatory allegations against P. A. Galganis have prosecuted several Canyonites for disturbing the peace, and it was to play even with them that the petition was prepared. It bore only ten signatures, and those of indifferent importance. Still the board referred the matter to the District Attorney's office, and a man was sent down to investigate. His report, now on file, shows this latest attack on Galgani to be mere spite work, instigated by a rival in business through jealousy, and completely refutes the slanders contained in the petition. The document was circulated by Glovanoni, whose wife was recently convicted of disturbing the peace, on complaint of Mrs. Galgani, and fined $25, though another is credited with originating the scheme.

J. A. Tobin of this place, now building a house in Los Angeles, was quite seriously hurt in that city a few evenings since. He was thrown down while attempting to get into a wagor, and was run over. In Sunday's paper the correspondent of The Times committed a grievous lapsus veritas, for which the relaxing weather of the Sabbath day is partially responsible, since it is the fashion to attribute most things, good and bad, to the "glorious climate." POMONA.

POMONA. July 15.—(Regular Correspondence.) The Baptist church last evening was filled to its utmost seating capacity-anteroom and main building-on the occasion of the meeting of the Union Christian Endeaverors of Pomoña. There is no dodging the fact that this organization is becoming one of the greatest and most important religious societies now in existence in this country; and as it is composed of the young boys, girls, young men and young women all over the land, north, east, south and west, there is a grand opportunity for it to accomplish more general and harmonious good than the churches. Think of its number of delegates in Boston, now 53,000, and California is to have them in '97.

The crowd was just simply immense Sunday afternoon at the balloon ascension grounds, as there are so many that can take a little recreation on Sunday only, as they have no opportunity or time on any other hay during the week. With these, the "ox is, honestly, in the ditch."

THE PAVING QUESTION.

THE PAVING QUESTION.

The property-owners on Fourth street, between Main and Spurgeon, the district which the City Trustees have already taken the initiatory steps to order paved, are anxious to know what will be done with the street-car people. They insist that the street-car company should be compelled to pave at the same time and under the same specifications as the balance of the street. It is not probable that the Trustees will allow any concessions after the prolonged trouble that was experienced in paving from Main to West streets. The street-car company has insisted that it cannot afford to pave, and developments in the matter will be interesting.

GOOD RECORDS.

Klamath's performances at La Crosse, Wis., are the subject of enthusiastic comments by horse-lovers, which includes nearly everybody down this way. Last Thursday he won a great race, cutting his record from 2.12½ to 2.19½, and on Saturday he eclipsed this surprising performance by winning first money in a $1000 purse, and making a race record of 2.09½. The little bay is a wonder, and Orange county people are almost as proud of him as they are of the peerless Silk-wood. What he will do before returning home seems now a matter of the merest conjecture, but it is not infrequent to hear good judges predict a mark of 2.08 for him. He never was in as good condition as at the present time.

This road will be much better than the old road, being shorter and having an easier grade. The read follows a course from the foot of Ortega Hill to the Ortega schoolhouse, through the H. L. Williams and Crocker ranches, enabling the people to reach the vicinity of the schoolhouse in much less time, the distance being shortened from two and a half to three miles. This road makes a connecting road between the regular coast road to Summerland and Carpinteria, and what is known as the "upper Montecito road," by way of the Crocker and Williams ranches. The road also affords a new and pleasant detour from regular drives in this direction.

NTERESTING BUT COMPLICATED MATRIMONIAL SENSATION.

trowhend Hot Springs Hotel to be Rebuilt - Masonic Institution -Marriage Licenses-An Appealed Case-Local Notes.

SAN BERNARDINO, July 15 .- (Regu SAN BERNARDINO, July 1s.—(Regular Correspondence.) Quite an interesting matrimonial sensation occurred on Saturday evening that is evidently but the prelude to something of more interest, and which may have a more serious result than the first result. A prominent citizen procured a divorce from his wife and married again—a very common occurrence, though sometimes the second marriage takes place with-out the formality of a divorce from the first. In this case the second bride herself procured the necessary papers from the County Clerk and married the new-ly-divorced man immediately after the proceedings separated him from No. 1. This summary way of doing business did not suit No. 1, and she determined upon revenge. Saturday evening the deal came her way, and she sailed in to sweep the earth with No. 2. She followed them up into a block where the muchly-married man had his office, and walked in upon them without the formality of sending up her card or even rapping, gently at the door. As she stood within the threshold, where she had off stood before, there was an embarrassing pause for the brief fraction of a second, when, like the hungry mountain lion, springing upon its prey. No. 1 had No. 2 by the throat and was shutting off her wind in the most approved style, but the husband recovered from his surprise and soon had them separated, and sent No. 1 perambulating rapidly down stairs.

Rejected she might be for the instant, but not defeated, and she simply shifted the field of battle by taking up a more advantageous position on the walk below, awaiting the approach of the enemy in bitter silence. Soon No. 2 came down the steps with the bone of contention, and as they turned up the street their watchful eyes detected the enemy lying in wait for them, and they retreated down the steps with the bone of contention, and as they turned up the street their watchful eyes detected the enemy lying in wait for them, and they retreated down the steps with the bone of contention, and as they turned up the street their watchful eyes detected the enemy lying in wait for them, and they retreated down the steps with the next encounter.

MASONIC INSTITUTION.

The Masonic brethren of Redlands contemplate the institution at that place of a council, for the eighth and ninth Masonic degrees, the connecting link between the Chapter and Commandery, and also of a Consistory for the Scottish rite degrees up to the fifteenth. As there is neither Council nor Consistent and the Council of the Scottish received the control of the Council of the Cou teenth. As there is neither Council nor Consistory nearer than Los Angeles at present, this move will be a great con-venience to the Masonic brethren of this section, and they will probably receive several members of each from this city.

REDLANDS, July 15.—(Regular Correspondence:) This morning the board of trustees of the Redlands school district spent considerable time in going through the school building, seeing what repairs were needed in order to make the various apartments as comfortable as possible. The board also looked about for a site for a ward school, to be located in the vicinity of the business portion of town. The over-crowded condition of the primary department of the Redlands school, together with its remoteness from the north side of the district, makes the proposed school practically necessary. As temporary quarters, the colored Baptist Church or the Waite building on State street may be chosen.

An unknown man, in a bathing suit, assaulted L. W. Berry in the plunge at Redondo Sunday. The assault was wholly unexpected, as Berry was quietly talking to a companion when the man approached and dealt him a blow in the face. Had it not been for the prompt interference of Berry's friends there might have been further trouble, as the young man was naturally greatly incensed at the cowardly attack.

RETRIBUTION AT LAST.

Stool Pigeon Arrested for Robbing Capt. Thom's Home.

A burglar bagged by Detectives Goodman and Steele a few days ago was not registered on the police blotter until yesterday, as the officers had not yet completed their chain of evidence. The culprit is Joe Silver and he is accused of robbing the residence of Capt. C. E. Thom, at No. 118 East Third street, while the house was closed for the summer, the family being at Santa Monica, where Capt. Thorn has been lying dangerously ill for some time past.

Monica, where Capt. Thorn has been lying dangerously ill for some time past.

A peculiarity about the burglary is that it was committed in broad daylight, last Thursday, the absence of the family giving the burglar a good chance to get in his work unmqiested. The booty secured probably did not exceed $150 in intrinsic value, but there were a number of souvenirs among the pelf that made the loss much heavier to the family. Among the articles taken were a sealskin sacque belonging to Mrs. Thom, several silk dresses, a pair of pistols, a collection of Chinese coins, souvenir spoons, etc. All the plunder has been recovered by the detectives. Some of it had been disposed of at second-hand stores but the seal-skin sacque was found hidden under the stairway of the Poor Man's Inn on Third street between Los Angeles and Wall.

If Silver had an accomplice the detectives have not yet succeeded in unearthing him. They claim to have a clear case against Silver, and, it is possible he did the job alone. Silver worked in the establishment where he says he was last employed. He has a young wife who is in a delicate condition and has been crying around the police station for the past few days on account of her husband's incarceration. She says she knows he is innocent, but the officers think otherwise.

It is said Silver is the same man who played stool-pigeon for Detectives Auble and Hawley at the time the latter shot and captured a burglar named Bean. Silver helped Bean to plan the robbery of the store. While Bean was inside, but instead of doing so he gave the detectives the tip. The result was that Bean was surprised in the act and shot while trying to make his escape. For a long time it was thought he would die, but he finally recovered was convicted and sent to State's prison. It appears to be Silver's turn now to do time for the State.

Around the World.

G. T. Thresher and wife of Boston left Los Angeles yesterday. They expect to spend six years in making a journey up and down and all around the earth. They go from here to the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, thence to Denver, then to Yellowstone Park, then west and down to the Yosemite, then back again to Los Angeles, where they will pause a little while before going onward into the Orient. They will have an ideal journey, never in a hurry, never rushed for time. They can stop as long as they wish in pleasant spots, and when their wanderings are done they will really have seen and known something of the earth and its people.
